DETAILED ACTION

Claim Objections

1. Claims 6 and 7 are objected to because of the following informalities: claims 6 and 7 depend from themselves, respectively. Appropriate correction is required. For the purposes of this action, claim 6 is considered to depend from claim 5, and claim 7 from claim 6.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. Claims 9 and 10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. In claim 9, "the long edge" and in claim 10, "the edge of the second panel" lack prior antecedent bases.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

4. Claims 1, 2, 4, 5, and 9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Walker (5,611,414). Walker shows a portable bed comprising: a generally laminar panel (6) including foldable cushioning pallet (40) which is generally rigid and rectangular, and at least partially covered on one side with material (41) capable of being comfortable for a pet lying on the panel; a hinge (50) formed in the laminar panel and dividing the panel into first and second co-planar portions on each side of the hinge, wherein the first and second portions can be folded toward one another into a closed position; an upstanding wall (10) extending along a periphery of the first portion of the laminar panel and proximal the hinge, wherein, in an open position, the upstanding wall encloses only the portion of the panel from which it extends and, in the closed position, the first and second portions of the panel and the upstanding wall define an enclosure in which items may be transported; at least one zipper closure (36) for securing the first and second portions of the panel in the closed position; and a handle (22) for transporting the pet bed with the panels in the closed position.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

6. Claims 6-8, 12 and 13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Walker. Walker shows a portable bed capable of use for a pet comprising a foldable panel which is made of sections with hinge(s) that connect edges of the sections and an upstanding wall extending along the periphery of one of the section. Walker, however, does not disclose that the sections are rectangular having a pair of long and short edges; nor does Walker disclose that the upstanding wall has a height approximately equal to the width of a medial section. With respect to the rectangular shape of the sections, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to form the sections of the Walker panel such that there are long and short edges, and the height of the upstanding wall be of a dimension equal to the width of one of the sections since Walker discloses that various height and width dimensions could be used depending on what size bed one needed or what size traveling case one wished to carry (col. 6, lines 18-38).

7. Claims 3, 11 and 15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Walker in view of Moore et al. (5,144,911). Walker shows a portable bed having a panel covered with removable bed clothing (41), however it is not specifically disclosed that the material is fleece. Moore et al. teach a bed system for a pet comprising a panel covered with a mat (16) made of a fleece material. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to cover the bed of Walker with fleece material since it is well known that fleece is provides a soft and comfortable fabric on which to lay.

Allowable Subject Matter

8. Claims 10 and 14 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
